SHIP ST. NICHOLAS IS IN HOME WATERS

WILL ENTER PORT TODAY—
ALESIA SAILS FOR ORIENT OTHER MARINE NEWS.

The good American ship St. Nicholas, loaded deep with a heavy salmon cargo, and nearly 200 Astoria people, homing from the Nushagak fisheries in Northern Alaska, showed her hull and canvas off the home bar at noon yesterday and shortly afterward was picked up by the Wallula, Captain Reid, and the two were thrashing about outside till about sundown, when the bar tug cut loose and entered port, berthing at the O. R. & N. pier, while the St. Nicholas went to an anchor in 30 fathoms of water, about one and a quarter miles southeast of the lightship and will enter port today, probably about noon. She reports an uneventful voyage down and everybody on board in the best of health.

The steamer Charles R. Spencer came down with 34 people yesterday and a lot of feed. She went back with 115 passengers, most of them over-Regatta visitors to Astoria. Among the latter were Geo. E. Waggoner, the Home Telephone man; C. V. Burkebile, the Misses Foard and Meyer who have been guests at the Martin Foard home, accompanied by Mrs. W. C. Logan; and Eber Franciscen.

The steamship Geo. W. Elder came in from the California coast at an early hour yesterday morning, with plenty of people and a big wad of freight and went on to the metropolis after a short tie-up at the Callender dock. She is due down and out on Friday morning next.

The O. R. & N. steamer Harvest Queen was doing a freight stunt along the Columbia yesterday and got down here with quite a big load, taking on a lot of salmon for the up-trip. On her way back she picked up the French bark Michelet and took her on to Portland.

The Columbia bar yacht, owned by the Pilots' Association, the Joseph Pulitzer, came in from her station off the Columbia yesterday and is moored at the O. R. & N. taking on supplies, as usual about the first of the month. She will leave out sometime today or tomorrow.

The steamer Lurline was a bit late last night in arriving here from Portland, and went up at 7:30 with plenty of business on both decks. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ward were passenger for Spokane on the Kamm liner.

The Norwegian ship Vigo, Captain Lystad, from Mejillones, is in port.

after a slow and tediously hot trip up the two coasts, and is now in the lower harbor awaiting towage to Portland.

No. 67, the Umatilla Reef lightship, left out yesterday afternoon on the flood for her upper coast station. Officers and men were glad of the 10 days respite from the monotonous sea.

The dandy little Heather will leave out today, well loaded with supplies, for Gray's Harbor, Destruction Island, Umatilla Reef, and other points, and will be absent from port for 10 days or more.

The motor sloop Condor came from the Siletz country yesterday afternoon and wended her way up the river Portland-ward, after another cargo of general merchandise.

The British steamship Desdemona arrived in port yesterday afternoon and will go on to Portland at once for a cargo of grain, and back to Puget Sound to finish.

The fine oil tank steamship Atlas came in from the California coast yesterday morning, and went on to the metropolis without losing any time in these waters.

The steamer J. Marhoffer arrived in from San Francisco yesterday afternoon, and went on to the metropolis after a short stop at the Callender docks.

Captain Roxy Graham of the yacht "Winged-O," with a party of friends, left yesterday for a week's outing on the upper waters of the Columbia and the Willamette.

The steamer Northland was among the arrivals in yesterday, coming from the Bay City and left up for Portland after a brief stay at the Callender.

The steamer St. Helens is among the craft due in from the lower coast this morning, and will load out of Portland.

The Coos Bay launches Kroos and Ranger that were here for the Regatta sailed early yesterday morning for their home waters.

The steamship Alesia went outward on the evening flood of yesterday bound for China and Japan.

The steamer Sue H. Kimore will leave out for Tillamook Bay points on the early flood this morning.

TEA

The cost of good tea is so very little: only a third of a cent a cup! a cent-and-a-half or two cents for the family breakfast!

SALOON MAN'S TRIAL IS SET FOR TODAY

A JURY IS DRAWN TO PASS UPON THE CASE OF C. J. BERTLESON.

C. J. Bertleson, proprietor of the Warwick saloon on Commercial street, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a bench warrant issued by Judge Anderson of the police court, and taken into court for trial. He had been arrested several days ago by Police Officer Houghten on a charge of permitting a woman to be in a "wine room" in his saloon, but had failed to show up in court when his case was called, and thereby forfeiting a nominal bail. Attorney C. J. Curtis appeared with Bertleson yesterday afternoon and demanded a jury trial for his client. The trial of the case was set for this afternoon at 3 o'clock and at the conclusion of the session of court a jury was drawn, and is made up as follows:

Jacob Utzinger, Alex Tagg, George H. Ohler, L. E. Howes, H. A. Sherman and J. N. Laws.

This jury is apparently composed of representative men, and it is understood that both sides are satisfied with the men on it. It is understood that the prosecution will endeavor to prove that there was a woman in one of the "boxes" or wine rooms in the saloon, and if that fact can be proven beyond question it will presumably be for the jury to find if she was there in violation of the city ordinance covering the matter.

When Police Officer Houghten entered the saloon and saw the woman there, as he alleges, he told the proprietor that he was under arrest, whereupon Bertleson quickly pulled a revolver and "covered" the officer with it. That one or the other of the men was not killed seems to have been a matter of pure luck more than anything else, and while Patrolman Houghten is not talking much of the matter his friends say that he is disposed to see that this case be pushed to the limit. The other officers are naturally taking a keen interest in the matter, entirely irrespective of the innocence or guilt of the defendant in relation to the charge of permitting a woman to be in the wine room. It is the alleged fact that the saloon keeper pulled a revolver on the police officer which arouses interest in the case, and it is said to be not improbable that the defendant may also have to answer to a charge of threatening to kill.

Meantime those who are keenly interested in the moral welfare of the city are hoping that the trial may also disclose some facts in regard to how saloons in Astoria are being conducted.

REALTY TRANSFERS

Mrs. Lizzie Sweetland and husband to W. A. Alcorn and Ida V. Alcorn, east half of lot 16, block 24, Hermosa Park; $200.

Michael Fuoco to J. R. Dodge and C. W. Dodge, lands on Lewis and Clark river; $10.

S. G. Trullinger and wife to Axel Corland, lots 20 and 21, block 5, Trullinger's addition to Astoria; $200.

Elizabeth Ann Mack to P. A. Trullinger, 16 acres beginning at a point 841 feet east of northwest corner of McEwan donation land claim in T. 7, N. R. 9 W.; $1.

James Finlayson to Edward Nordgard, lots 17, 18 and 19 in tract 1 of block 10, Olney's Astoria; $10.

Are In No Hurry—

City Treasurer Thomas Dealey is bewailing his lot because he can't get rid of a lot of money that he has on hand. Although call has been made on a lot of outstanding warrants the claimants don't come in to secure their money. Yesterday, however, he paid out about $1000 from the general fund. Every fact in connection with the city treasurer's department wherein it comes in contact with the general public tends to show that money is not at all "tight" in Astoria.

Have Started Big Job—

The O. R. & N. Company set a corps of painters at work painting the 6000 square yards of dock roofing a good strong black, and will follow it up by painting the dock house walls a chrome yellow when this work is finished. The property will look very attractive when it is completed and will furnish a fine example for other waterfrontage property that may be very properly treated in the same fashion, to the immense improvement of the appearance of the city from the channels, and decks of passing ships.
